DEDICATION

This survey is dedicated to the continuation of the spirit of numismatics in the Western Pennsylvania area. This spirit was exemplified at the initiation of this survey by the "Carnegie Museum section of Coins and Medals" and was personified at that time by the curator Mr. William Woodside. The above used the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society as a tool to influence for the betterment of individuals in numismatics. Converging lines of such influence developed in many other local clubs and were fostered by our local coin dealers. The result was the development of a body of knowledgeable and in some cases well known numismatists. These individuals were strong in their support of other collectors, their many fields and levels of interest, intertwined with numismatics. Interests developed from the study and collecting of numismatic and associated items have added much to the quality of life in this area.

William V. Hunter, Jr.

INTRODUCTION

Allegheny County is rich in numismatic (exonumic) history. While no U.S. mints were located within the county, many pieces were privately struck within its boundaries to commemorate events both at home and elsewhere in the world. Items were struck elsewhere to commemorate events within the borders of the county, the stage for many historical occurrences along its three main rivers - the Allegheny, Monongahela and the Ohio. The site of Braddock's defeat and the whiskey rebellion, Forts Duquesne and Pitt, parts of the National Road, the Pennsylvania Turnpike, and the modern city of Pittsburgh, with its Golden Triangle, are but a few of the points of historical interest recorded or commemorated on numismatic items. The area was the strength of our country's industrial society and as such supported the production of "numismatic" associated items.

While such well-known personages as Washington, Bouquet and Carnegie are easily associated with the county, it is perhaps also significant to know that John Eckert, a Pittsburgh butcher, Richard and William Jenkinson, tobacconists, Henry Miller, a book seller and similar small businessmen not only lived in the county but also issued numismatic items.

These numismatic items are and will be (probably for centuries) found as objects of curiosity and a starting point for rediscovering some of the life of past times. It has been deemed worthwhile to capture data currently available that relates to Allegheny County's numismatically related items. A wealth of material available in private collections, the papers which have been presented to the WPNS, specialized literature which has been published, the availability of the Carnegie Museum collections and the abundance of (perishable) knowledge of society members made the Survey seem appropriate.

Glenn A. Mooney

DEVELOPMENT

The "W.P.N.S. Numismatic Survey of Allegheny County" was conceived and originally issued as a computer listing of many tokens and medals issued in, for, or related to Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. It was a "catalog of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania numismatic items". Listed data was basically of the items housed in the Carnegie Museum's "section of coins and medals". This original issue contained an alphabetical index by actual inscription on the listed items - a novel idea. The information was pulled together and expanded by workers in this worthy section supported by the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society. Data was maintained on 80 column keypunch cards. Bill Hunter did the programming, card file ordering and maintenance, and list production on large mainframe computers. The project instigator was Mr. William W. Woodside (Curator-section of coins and medals). Glenn Mooney, Bill Woodside, Ray Byrne, Ferd Wise, Ed Oschman collected item information using special survey forms. Glenn Mooney presented the project to the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society. The society and its members have supported the survey to the present time.

For many years data was accumulated. Information was presented by members of W.P.N.S. and a few others. The 80 column card concept quickly became too cumbersome. Data was then typed and collected with photos in a format that was expected to be made print ready; however, the result, because of data collection techniques, the availability of so much data, the scope and size of the task, etc. - was that the survey became an ordered but not presentable collection of data. A giant step was taken in initiating computerized word processing.

Finally a sub-group of the survey, encased items, was adopted by Dick Gaetano to be made available in printed form. The result is the first issue section "Special Groups-Encased Items".

The second issue section, "Brewing Companies-Brewery Tokens" has since been cataloged by Jerry Porter and added to the survey.

DIRECTION

This "Numismatic Survey of Allegheny County, Pa." is to be so titled. It will make an attempt to track numismatics and related interests thru time-- The collections (public, private), the organizations (manufacturers, clubs), the people involved (students, dealers, collectors).

The cataloger is requesting organization histories. Biographies and autobiographies of individuals as they refer to "survey" interests are actively solicited. Hopefully all individuals - known or little known - will respond who have participated strongly.

History and trends should be a part of the survey. National and State bank development should be chronicled. Artistic level and reasoning for item output trends should be commented on.

The item catalog will be the large part of the catalog. An individual numismatically related item is a curiosity that prods investigative persons to delve into its background. They are often the longest lasting references to persons, places and things. Such items grouped in categories will suggest directions and give much key information concerning place and time for further local studies. Current items present the opportunity to collect a body of information as it happens, providing historical starting points for the future. This survey should have current relevance locally, with special interest groups and with collectors of such items. Several of the item groups currently have catalogs and a known group of followers (parking tokens, transportation tokens, etc.). We must also acknowledge the surveys interest to individuals who have had such items passed to them as keepsakes and to that group of "knowledgeables" who can identify these keepsakes. The survey should provide a starting point for scholars and students of history, economics, etc.

Items are catagorized in the hope that specific areas will be studied, printed, and issued. A general "survey" introduction and index will accompany each issued section. An attempt will be made to continue indexing by item descriptions. Perhaps the "survey" will provide guidelines, etc. for groups in other areas. Collection of item data is to continue. An honest effort will be made to keep information accurate, ordered, and reasonably presentable. Word processing tools will be a tremendous aid. Handling of photos and other data physically disconnected from the data catalog will continue to be a problem; however, when the item is not available, a photo is the best alternative for accurate item description. A highly coordinated effort, though, is required to carry photos through to a finished printed output. Any data presented to the cataloger will be respectfully treated and hopefully properly acknowledged.

Additionally, where photos have not proven satisfactory for reproduction, as in the case of "brewery tokens", rubbings that are line drawn appear to be the best method to use for reproduction on copying machines.

INTRODUCTION

In the early days of settlement of the Pittsburgh area the brewing of beer and ale was by far the largest contributor to the local economy. The first commercial brewery on record was started by George Shiras in 1795 at the "point"; where the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers join to form the Ohio. At the time the population of this frontier town was less than 1000. As the area grew more breweries were established to the point that at the turn of the 20th Century there were over 30 operating in Allegheny County and at least 15 more in the surrounding area. Of these, more than half had tokens produced and distributed to local taverns in order to advertise their products and in some cases to be used as bottle checks, i.e., for the return of bottles. The vast majority of these tokens are brass, round and measure 24-25mm. Some are of Aluminum, one is copper and one listed is bi-metallic. Also one other example is made of plastic. In addition to round shaped there are square, scalloped and octagonal examples. Most of the brass ones are uniface. Where there is description on the reverse, it pertains to advertising, bottle return or carries the name of the die sinker, (Pannier Bros.). Most have the initials of the bar? or bar owner? either stamped, (incuse) or raised on the token.

Some early brewers to issue tokens were C. Baeuerlein Brewing Co., established in 1867; Keystone Brewing Co., 1887; Duquesne Brewing Co., 1899; American Brewing Co., 1899; First National Brewing Co., 1901; Hazelwood and Liberty Brewing Cos. in 1905 and Fort Pitt Brewing Co., 1906.

On Feb. 3, 1899, 15 local and six regional breweries were consolidated into the Pittsburgh Brewing Co. trust*, with headquarters in the Carnegie Building, 428-30 Fifth Ave., downtown Pittsburgh. Also, in 1904, the Independent Brewing Co. trust* was formed with the acquisition of nine local and four regional breweries. Their headquarters was on the 17th floor of the Farmers Bank Building in downtown Pittsburgh.

It was after this time that most of the brewery tokens were issued and the bulk of them by the Independent Brewing Co. combine. Three breweries that remained independent and had tokens made were Hazelwood, Liberty and Fort Pitt. Of the two trusts, the Pittsburgh Brewing Co. chose not to recognize individual breweries within the combine on their tokens; thus, the few types with their name. The Independent Brewing Co., on the other hand, did recognize individual names on tokens; thus, the large number of types with many varieties.

Brewery tokens continued in use up to prohibition, January 16, 1920, and after it ended, April 7, 1933. The Independent Brewing Co. became inoperative at that time so it appears that the tokens made in their name were made prior to 1920. Post-prohibition survivors were the Pittsburgh Brewing Co. and the Duquesne Brewing Co., in Pittsburgh, the Fort Pitt Brewing Co. in Sharpsburg, and Tube City Brewing Co., in McKeesport, Pa. Today, the only survivors are the Pittsburgh

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank the following persons for their generous contributions of time and effort to make up this section. Jim Kriss, first, for his computer, his time and his attributions. Next, Dick Gaetano and Larry Dziubek for serving on the committee responsible for compilation. Then, for contributions from individual collections: Herman Aqua, Rich Crosby, Larry Dziubek, Dick Gaetano, Deb Harding (Carnegie Museum Collection), Jim Hartman, Jim Kriss, Dick Watley and Al Zaika. Also to the members of the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society in general. Finally to my friend Fran Kasunick for the use of a collection of newspaper clippings, circa 1901-02, compiled by John P. Ober, Treasurer, Pittsburgh Brewing Co.
